SMALL ART FOR BOTHA'S LARK

A COLLECTION TO SAVE A SPECIES

SMALL, PURPOSEFUL ARTWORKS WITH A BIG IMPACT HELPING TO SAVE THE CRITICALLY ENDANGERED BOTHA'S LARK.

The Botha's Lark, one of Africa's most endangered birds, faces extinction, with only an estimated 340 individuals remaining. In response, this collection of 12 limited-edition artworks—each measuring just 50mm x 65mm—represents both the fragility of this species and the hope for its survival. The size is intimate, yet the impact is monumental. With your help, we can secure a future for Botha's Lark.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

STEFANIE DE BEER

Stefanie de Beer is a South African artist whose work is deeply rooted in her passion for nature and conservation. Known for her expressive style and the ability to tell powerful stories through her art, Stefanie has turned her creative talents toward raising awareness for endangered species, including the critically endangered Botha's Lark.

Inspired by South Africa's vibrant landscapes and wildlife, Stefanie's work captures the delicate balance of life in nature. Her Small Art for Botha's Lark collection is a poignant reflection of her dedication to blending art and conservation. This series of 12 meticulously crafted lino prints, each symbolizing one of the estimated 340 Botha's Larks remaining in the wild, brings the fragile beauty of this species to life. The hand-colored editions add a unique, personal touch, showcasing Stefanie's passion and attention to detail.

Stefanie's artistic journey began with Fine Arts at the University of Pretoria, later building her skills in props and decor while studying Entertainment Technology at the Tshwane University of Technology and later still, continuing her studies at Open Window studying Visual Communication. Working in both commercial and fine arts spheres her work has been celebrated in exhibitions and installations across South Africa.

While her art spans a range of styles, mediums and indeed dimensions, her commitment to creating meaningful pieces that spark conversation and inspire action is unwavering. With Small Art for Botha's Lark, Stefanie invites viewers to join her in protecting one of Africa's most endangered birds, turning small, powerful artworks into a movement for change.

Through her art, Stefanie de Beer continues to highlight the connection between creativity and conservation, using her unique talent to inspire action and hope for South Africa's biodiversity.
